This past year has been a quite year for SAHLA. Like many associations, we have struggled with apathy amongst the membership and trying to schedule CE sessions that will enrich the work that we do. Within Calgary, the diverse groups of library associations decided to pool their efforts and resources to help a variety of problems we all faced. The result has lead to some shared planning and staging of events, and greater publicity for the individual Association's events.

In December, SAHLA had a simple social breakfast gathering at Grace Women's Health Resources Library. In early May, Linda Rempel presented a talk titled Computer Networks Clearly Explained, in conjunction with the Foothills Library Association. At the end of May, the Calgary Libraries Associations hosted a joint dinner event with John Spittal (from the local CBC Radio One) as guest speaker. In June, the Annual General Meeting will be hosted by the new Integrative Health Institute Library staff.
